bi. היסט If a טמא object is sitting on a plank and somebody moves one end of it, the mover becomes impure. There is a variation of this rule with regards to יולדת: if a טהור person or utensil (including an earthenware vessel) or food or a beverage is sitting on a plank and a יולדת moves one end of it, the טהור person or utensil becomes טמא.

bii. (מדרס) משכב מושב ומרכב A יולדת who supports herself on an item usually used for such a person like a bed or a chair imparts טומאה to the degree of הטומאה to that item. This means that another person who subsequently sits on that chair becomes טמא as a ראשון לטומאה. A יולדת can also impart טומאה through the medium of אבן מסמא (being on a rock that's above an initially pure person); and טומאת מדף (being beneath a rock that's under an initially pure person). טומאת חיבורין includes the feature of טומאת מדף.

c. מעיינות היולדת Bodily fluids from a יולדת: urine, saliva and phlegm, and discharged blood are themselves אב הטומאה and create a degree of ראשון לטומאה to people who touch or carry them and to utensils which touch them. These excretions also impurify via טומאת חיבורין so if a person touches urine of a יולדת he becomes a ראשון לטומאה as do his clothes. However, these מעיינות do not impart טומאה via משכב ומושב, meaning that a יולדת's urine on a chair does not make that utensil an אב הטומאה but a ראשון לטומאה (רמב"ם הלכות מטמאי משכב ומושב א: יד-טז). Blood that a יולדת sees during the second stage of 33 and 66 days does not transmit impurity; only blood during the first week (for a boy) and first two weeks (for a girl) is טמא on the level of אב הטומאה.

Apart from discharged blood which transmits טומאה in liquid and dried state, emissions from a יולדת only impart impurity if they're wet, not once they've begun to dry. Tears, breast milk and blood from a wound impart a lower level of טומאה: they do not make people impure but do affect utensils and food. Sweat and excrement of a יולדת do not transfer impurity.
